

Why Mexico?

It's an exciting time to meet in Mexico. As a top destination for wellness tourism, the country hosted the Global Wellness Summit at the St. Regis Mexico City this past November. In between keynotes and workshops by some of the world's most respected wellness industry leaders, the conference plunged attendees into Mexico's vibrant artistic and cultural heritage and landscapes, bringing to the forefront a feeling we also hope to inspire with our 2016 Mexico Meeting & Incentive Planner: curiosity.

"We know art and culture play a major role in balanced, happy societies and overall wellness, and our goal is to keep attendees firmly in touch with their creative selves," said Global Wellness Summit Chairman/CEO, Susie Ellis.

As an international destination with a community mindset, Mexico delivers value-packed meetings and incentives with a rare combination of accessibility and diversity.

Why Mexico? Perhaps you should be asking: Why not?
